

The Anson — Sands Connection of Delaware County New York

Part II: Antecedents of Jesse Anson (w/Y-DNA Analysis)

By Maralyn D. Tolman and Richard L. Tolman, Ph. D.

This essay describes the family life, origins and two generations of descendants of Jesse Anson and Maria L. Sands of Delaware County, New York. Both of these individuals came from American colonial families and had the misfortune (from a genealogical point of view) of being raised in one of the most difficult time periods for New York county records. For this reason there exists much speculative and incorrect published information about the couple, their contemporary relatives and their origins. It is our purpose to provide documentation for that which is actually known.

Part I describes the descendants (three generations) of Jesse and Maria (Sands) Anson; Part II and Part III describe the ancestry of Jesse Anson and then Maria Sands, respectively.

Origins of Jesse Anson:

We already know that Jesse came¹ from American colonial stock with mother born in New York and father born in Connecticut.^{2,3} From the biographical sketch published by the Stevens Point (Wisconsin) Genealogical Society and his obituary, we know that he was orphaned when he was about age 14 (1834-35), that both parents died within a month of one another, and that he was one of eleven children (3 boys and 8 girls). Consider for a moment a geographic timeline for Jesse's father from this information: born before 1800 somewhere in Connecticut, resided in Delaware County NY in 1820 (Jesse's birth), and moved somewhere else to die in NY abt 1834.

Assuming Jesse and his family were in New York State four years before the death of the parents, the census records were examined (Jesse was 10 in 1830). There were 30 Anson families in the 1830 census of New York State. Nine of these Anson families (same forename and place) are ALSO in the 1840 U. S. Census and can therefore be eliminated as possible parents of Jesse. Of the remaining 21 Anson families, 14 can be eliminated as their households were judged to be too small for a family of 13 {households with 5 or less individuals (parents plus 3 children) were considered unlikely to be Jesse's family}. This leaves 7 Anson families. Three of the remaining could be eliminated by examining the Agricultural schedules in 1860 or 1880 and finding the fathers still alive. Two others had too many males and not enough females in their households. None of these Ansons were in Delaware County for the 1820 Census. Two left: one of these, a Rev. William Anson was one of the original settlers⁴ of Peru, Clinton Co., New York in abt 1805 and apparently stayed there (he was in Peru in the 1820 census). This left only Job Anson of Cuba, Allegany Co. (1830 household of 9).⁵ Coincidentally, Job was the ONLY Anson in Delaware County for the 1820 census (he was also there in 1810)⁶; he later removed in 1823⁷ to Cuba, Allegany County. He died intestate 19 Oct 1835⁸ and his wife Charlotte died before 8 Feb 1836, when their son Asa H. Anson returned from Illinois to petition the Allegany County court to administer the estate.⁹ This must be Jesse's family.

² 'Pioneer Profile: Jesse Anson and Wife Maria Sands', Pedigree Pointers, Vol. 4, no. 1, Oct. 1981 (organ of the Stevens Point (Wisconsin) Genealogical Society), p. 10 {New York Public Library} ; their source of information is obscure, but much of the information is in the Steven's Point Gazette obit (Part 1) as well as his son Leonard's biography (cf. E. B. Usher, ref 44 in Part 1).

This provides additional corroboration of Job as Jesse's father as it is in agreement with the Wisconsin biography details provided by Jesse's family or Jesse himself. It is noteworthy (see below) that Job had a brother Leonard, who also lived in Cuba. It is also noteworthy that Jesse named his oldest son and daughter Leonard and Julia after members of this family.

Job Anson was born in Amenia, Dutchess County, New York, but the Ansons have been traced¹⁰ back to England {immigrant: John Austen (abt 1640-1673); they were among the original settlers of Greenwich, Fairfield, Connecticut}. The Austens are claimed on pretty shaky evidence¹¹ to be descended from William Austen, Esq. of Lincoln's Inn, an eminent barrister in the reign of James I, the owner of the mansion at Shuzsborough, Stafford.

The family surname was Austin/Austen/Astin until Jonathan Austin (1680-1769)¹² had five sons: Jonathan (1712), Silas (abt 1720), John (abt 1728), Levinus (abt 1730), and Job (abt 1733).(see Moore, Edith Austin 'John Austin of Greenwich, Connecticut' (typescript, 353 p. at

New York Public Library); filmed by the Genealogical Society of Utah, Film 858668, item 2). At the time of the American revolution, a son of John (nephew Samuel Austin) was a Loyalist; his property was confiscated in 1779.^{13,14} Silas and Levinus (who lived at that time in Dutchess County) were patriots and changed their name to 'Anson' to differentiate themselves from their nephew. Silas, Levinus, and Job were all colonial soldiers. Proof of the name change is shown in Figure 1. In the 1790 U. S. Census, all Ansons (11) lived in Dutchess County, New York.

Y-DNA Analysis:

Another proof of the Austin to Anson descendency is Y-DNA analysis. Examination of the Y-DNA data (at www.afaoa.org/Austin_Profile_Table.htm) reveals three Y-DNA sequences {see (1)-(3) below} from individuals descended from John Austin of Greenwich (1620-1657)—his son Thomas (1654-)—and his grandson Jonathan (1682-1769); exact descendency is not disclosed.

Note: DNA donor entries (Family Tree DNA) and lineages are used as published on the www.afaoa.org website without verification; the data from the 3gggson of Job Anson (27) is used with permission (personal communication).

See original data at www.afaoa.org/Austin_Profile_Table.htm.

The genetic distances of < 3 (no more than 3 alleles different) in comparisons of the first 67 loci of the Y-DNA sequences of a gggson Job Austin with John Austin descendants constitutes absolute proof of a common Austin ancestor.

Ancestors of Jesse Anson

Generation One

1. Jonathan³ Austen (Thomas², John¹)^{15,16} was born 1685 and died 1769. He married (1) abt 1705 probably at Greenwich Hannah Ferris daughter of Joseph and Ruth (Knapp) Ferris. She was born abt 1682 and died before 14 Apr 1711 when Jonathan referred to his wife Hannah, late of Greenwich, deceased (probably no issue). He married (2) abt 1711 at Greenwich Phebe Lockwood daughter of Robert and Mary¹⁷ Lockwood.

Jonathan and Phebe (Lockwood) Austen had seven children:¹⁸

- 2 i. JONATHAN AUSTIN was born abt 1 Jan 1711/2 and died in the Philipse Patent, Dutchess, New York before 6 May 1767 when his will was presented for probate.¹⁹ He married Charity (probably Odell) and lived in Westchester County before moving to Dutchess County.
- 3 ii. SARAH AUSTIN was born abt 1718. She probably married (1) 12 Oct 1738 at Greenwich, Fairfield, Connecticut Jonathan Newman, Jr. She married (2) _____ Knapp. Two children by Newman.
- + 4 iii. SILAS ANSON/AUSTIN was born abt 1720 at Stanwich, Fairfield, Connecticut and died 4 May 1805 at Planksborough, Albany, New York. He married Martha _____.
- 5 iv. MARY AUSTIN was born abt 1722 and died 28 Oct 1797 (age 75) and is buried at Old Stanwich (Cherry Orchard Cemetery, Greenwich). Never married.
- 6 v. JOHN AUSTIN was born abt 1728 and was baptized²⁰ as an adult from Stanwich, age 21, at St. John's Episcopal Church, Stamford 10 Sep 1749; he died before 3 May 1774, when his estate was administered. He married Elizabeth Hurley, daughter of ⁷⁸ There are two known William Ansons each of about the same age: one b. 1790 (son of William 14 of Clinton County) and one b. 1786 (son of Silas 9 of Dutchess County). In the 1850 Census there are only two: a Wm Anson in Maine, b. 1790, but he was born in England. There is also a Wm Anson b. 1786 NY in Hopewell, Ontario, New York, who is likely then the son of Silas (his brother Silas, Jr. also lived in Hopewell). Of THIS William Anson 43 (b. 1790) there is nothing known.

⁹³ Anson Newsletter #7, Jun 1986, p. 13 (research compiled by Joyce Earle).

⁹⁴ Samuel is often listed in Ancestry family trees as a son of Robert (11) and Phebe Anson, but this is not confirmed by Hurd or Anson Newsletter research. This is also very unlikely as Robert and Phebe married abt 1790 and Samuel was born 1778/9. Samuel is sometimes listed as a son of Silas, Jr. (9), but this is also not confirmed by any researcher including the Anson Newsletter #9. In the 1790 Census Silas, Jr. was head of a family of 4 with one son under 16; i. e. Silas (the 3rd) the son was 3 yrs in 1790 and Samuel was abt 11 yrs. Silas (the 3rd) is well established as Silas, Jr.'s son so there appears to be no room for Samuel in this family.

No source specifically lists Samuel as a son of Levinus (14), but dates, census records (children count, 1790), and geographic parameters are consistent.

¹³⁰ Jesse's biography states he was one of three brothers (note vide supra). The identity of the three boys is much debated but can now be resolved. Jesse is one, and Asa (b. 1810) has to be another as he returned from Illinois to be executor of Job's estate in 1836. The third is either Leonard or Joel H. (both were residents of Cuba). Leonard (b. 1815) has to be the third; Joel (b. 1807) was considerably older and certainly would have been executor (and he was local) if he were the third son and Asa would not have been executor.

¹³¹ Proof of Leonard as the third son of Job was provided by Ed Anson, Andover MA: 'Asa Anson of Sarpy county, spent the Sabbath with his nephews at the Lindell house.' From The Columbus Journal, Wednesday, Feb. 24, 1886 {the Lindell house was owned by the brothers Frank and John Anson, sons of Leonard Anson; newspaper online at Ancestry.com (accessed 12 Sep 2016)}.
